The program is free and based on photoshop, which means it will work just fine with any computer. Pro's: Presets Real-time view Smudge Con's: Would recommend upgrading to a current version for a more stable experience. For casual usage, its pretty good for the price. A: You can also use GIMP and either the layer effects filters or the overlay filters. There are several presets built in, or you can create your own. If you like it simple, then you can use the preset with opacity 1, if you want it more sophisticated, it's easy to do with the layer effects filters. You can also use gimp's drawing tools to draw directly onto your photo. From there, you can edit the image with any photo editing program. Q: Finding remainder of $(5x + 5)^{\frac{1}{2}}$ on division by x I am having a bit of trouble with this question: $$(5x + 5)^{\frac{1}{2}}\\\frac{x}{5}$$ I don't understand how to use the product of the $5^{\frac{1}{2}}$ and $\frac{x}{5}$ in the process of division. I know that they are both even and both non-zero, but what should I do? A: Notice that the expression $5x + 5$ is already 0 in the quotient. So $$(5x + 5)^{\frac{1}{2}}\\\frac{x}{5} = \frac{(5x + 5)^{\frac{1}{2}}}{5} \cdot \frac{x}{5} = \frac{(5x)^{\frac{1}{2}}}{5} \cdot x = \frac{x^{\frac{1}{2}}}{5^{\frac{1}{2}}} = \frac{x}{5}$$ #!/bin/bash # SPDX-License-Identifier: GPL-2.0 # # Copyright (c) 2019 Facebook lib_dir=$(dirname $0)/../../../net/forwarding save_config_file() { local cfg=$1
